

SNMA at Texas Tech

The Texas Tech School of Medicine chapter of SNMA has recently become an active student organization. During this past year, several new projects were initiated by the members of this organization including mentoring at local high schools, establishment of a MAPS undergraduate chapter at Texas Tech University, partnership with other multicultural events on campus, as well as work with the School of Medicine administration to assess the diversity and needs of the medical students at the various Texas Tech campuses.

Roshni

A Multicultural Banquet

April 17, 2009
7:30 PM

Presented by Student National Medical Association

What is Roshni?

The Student National Medical Association at Texas Tech is proud to announce the 1st annual multi-cultural banquet, Roshni. Roshni is a celebration of food, drinks, and entertainment to promote diversity and respect of all cultures at this school. Roshni will also be a great opportunity to raise money for scholarships geared towards minority students.

This event is sponsored by the Dean's Office of the School of Medicine.

Who is SNMA?

The Student National Medical Association is the nation's oldest and largest independent, student-run organization focused on the needs and concerns of medical students of color. Membership includes more than 8,000 medical students, pre-medical students, residents and physicians.

SNMA is dedicated both to ensuring culturally sensitive medical education and services, as well as increasing the number of African-American, Latino and other under-represented minority students entering and completing medical school.
