CIMA Lectures on World Health is a series of lectures designed to better educate TTUHSC faculty, students, and staff on the health-care issues, concerns, and disparities impacting our world. The lecture series provides an opportunity for the exchange of information and knowledge resulting in a better understanding of the global issues facing modern healthcare. In addition, a diverse array of healthcare practices are presented, allowing practitioners to draw from the traditions and medical advancements of other nations.

Healthcare professionals from various fields of study offer an international perspective on topics ranging from surgery to toxicology and from traditional Chinese medicine to the treatment of drug and substance abuse. The invaluable experience gained by health-care professionals traveling to other areas of the globe can now be relayed to TTUHSC faculty, students, and staff. CIMA Lectures on World Health encourages the advancement of knowledge for change that impacts the world
