

17th ANNUAL THOMAS J. WHITE SYMPOSIUM

LESSONS FROM HAITI

Tackling Acute and Chronic Disasters

Broadcast Live

Come back September 25 at 3 p.m. EDT for a live stream of Partners In Health's 17th Annual Thomas J. White Symposium.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 25, 2010
2:00 PM — 4:00 PM CST
ACB 150

RSVP on the Partner's in Health website or by sending an e-mail to ttuhscinternationalmedicine@gmail.com

www.pih.org/symposium

If registering through the PIH website, search for the event with the 79416 zipcode.

For over 20 years, PIH has worked to tackle the chronic but devastating disasters that stifle the lives and hopes of millions of people—lack of access to medical care, food, clean water, decent housing, schools and jobs. This year's Symposium will explore how acute disasters like the earthquake in Haiti impact communities already ravaged by poverty and disease, and how our commitment to breaking this vicious cycle has enabled us to respond effectively to the need for both emergency relief and long-term recovery.