Health Issues of the Highly Mobile

Wednesday, November 17

12:00 noon CST

ACB 120

This presentation will take a closer look at the health issues facing migrant seasonal farmworkers in today's healthcare system. Katie Ruthsatz, PA-C provides primary and preventative medical care to residents of rural communities in the South Plains. She graduated in 2003 from Wofford College with a B.S. in chemistry. In 2009 she graduated from Medical University of South Carolina with a Masters in Physician Assistant Studies. Andrés Pedroza coordinates two mobile healthcare clinics in a five-county service area providing primary and preventative medical and dental healthcare services to the underserved, uninsured, and underinsured populations in the rural South Plains. He graduated from Texas Tech University in 2006 with a B.S. in Food & Nutrition and a B.A. in Spanish.
