Encountering “The Hermit Kingdom”: A Medical Student’s Reflections on Visiting Pyongyang, North Korea

Wednesday, October 6
12:00 noon CST
ACB 120

Jennifer Roh is a second year medical student. She will be speaking about her short visit to Pyongyang, North Korea with a medical team of physicians and nurses. Jennifer will talk about the work the team did which included surgeries, medical training at the top two hospitals in the capital, and visits to orphanages. She will also share her impressions of being in North Korea and talk briefly about the health care system in North Korea. Jennifer will incorporate a photo slideshow and also share a little about her family history and how her family became involved in humanitarian work in North Korea.
