How to Write an Effective Mission Statement

Dyanne Herrera, MPH

Clarissa Gomez, Ph.D.

Training Objective

To understand vision and mission statements, understand their role in strategy, and learn how to create strong, effective statements.

Introduction

- Vision statement = dream
- Mission statement = purpose
- Importance
 - Communicates intent and purpose
 - Communicates primary function and strategy
 - Communicates benefits to clients/stakeholders

What is a mission statement?

A mission statement is a brief statement of the general values and principles which guide the program or office/department goals.

- Sets a tone and a philosophical position from which objectives are developed
- Communicates the overall purpose
- Distinguishes the program or office/department from similar areas
- Aligns clearly with the mission of TTUHSC El Paso

Mission Statement

Contains:

- Program or office/department purpose
- Description of primary functions
- Description of clients/stakeholders
 - Staff, students, patients, etc.
- Values (optional)

While a vision talks about the future, a mission tells us why the program or office/department exists and what it is doing right now.

Mission Statement Examples

Coca Cola

- To refresh the world...
- To inspire moments of optimism and happiness.
- To create value and make a difference.

McDonald's

- To provide the fast food customer food prepared in the same high-quality manner world-wide that is tasty, reasonably-priced and delivered consistently in a low-key décor and friendly atmosphere.

Characteristics/Attributes of a Well Written Mission Statement

- Is unique to your program/office/department
- Clarifies the distinctive purpose of your program/office/department
- Identifies signature features of your program/office/department
- Is short and concise
- Is easy to understand and remember
- Promotes alignment with the institutional/school/department mission
- Withstands time, has longevity
- Is shared and visible (publicly available)

Creating a Mission Statement

Here are four essential questions your mission statement must answer:

1. Who are we?

- State the name of your program or office/department (i.e. “The mission of TTUHSC El Paso is _____”).
- Avoid vague pronouns like “Our mission is...”

2. What do we do?

- Includes the primary functions or activities of the unit.
- Illustrates the most important functions, operations, outcomes and/or offerings of the program or office/department.

3. Why do we do it?

- State the purpose of the program or office/department.
- Should include the primary reasons why you perform your major activities or operations.

4. For whom do we do it?

- These are the stakeholders (e.g., students) of your program or office/department.

Structure of a Mission Statement

The mission of <the name of your program or office/department> is to <your primary purpose(s)> by providing <your primary functions or activities> to <your stakeholder(s)>.

(Any additional clarifying statements.)

Note: The order of the pieces of the mission statement may vary from the above structure.

Example: Academic Program

Program Name: Who

The mission of the Department of Pediatric Dentistry at the XYZ School of Dentistry is to educate students in childhood growth and development as it relates to oral health in order to produce competent and compassionate dental professionals.

Primary Function(s): What

Stakeholder(s): For whom

Primary Purpose: Why

OIRE's Mission Statement
